F-1 Student Information

The US Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) have created an internet-based system to maintain current information on all F-1 international students. The system is called SEVIS (Student and Exchange Visitor Information System).

SEVIS will track F-1 students until they complete their programs and will require ATI College to report to the USCIS any students who do not maintain lawful status.

Under the new regulations, even the minor status violations (i.e., failing to inform ICE of change of address, dropping below full-time study without permission, or failure to process a timely transfer) could result in possible termination. In order to keep you well informed of these important changes, we strongly recommend you visit the SEVP website at <https://studyinthestates.dhs.gov/students/maintaining-status> frequently.

ATI College is authorized under federal law to admin non-immigrant alien students.
